"Stone Court Farm" Sold
To New York City Broker

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 18.—The picturesque Bucks county estate of the internationally famous sculptor, Jo Davidson, known as "Stone Court Farm," Lahaska, has been sold to Arthur Vogel, of 31 East 72nd st., New York City, prominent Wall Street stock broker. The estate was held at $75,000.

The sale was verified today by Parke M. Wetherill, Buckingham and Doylestown realtor. Mr. Vogel and his family will occupy their new home immediately. Mrs. Vogel is one of America's outstanding dog judges.

Sculptor Davidson, who purchased the 167-acre estate in 1940, sold because of the fact that he recently purchased a large studio in New York City and a farm near Tours, France.

It was at "Stone Court Farm" that many of the "greats" of international fame were sculptured in the past eight years, including the late President Roosevelt, Helen Keller, the late General Pershing and many others.

QUARTER-FINALS TO START TONIGHT IN THE 'SUB' LEAGUE

Quarter-finals of the Bristol Suburban League will get under way this evening as the Langhorne Legion meets the Hibernians on Memorial Park field. Starting time will be at six o'clock sharp.

The Hibs finished the season with 17 wins and 10 defeats, and were in a deadlock for third place. Langhorne Legion won 15 and lost 13 during season's play.

The Hibs, managed by Joe Dolan, got off to a rather shaky start, but after Dolan acquired Earl Wagner, former minor league hurler, the team started to climb. Starting at mid-season, Wagner finished the season with seven wins and one defeat.

Recently, the management of the Langhorne Legion changed hands. Ira Smith, who held the reins since the start of the season, resigned after his team was assured of a playoff spot. His place was taken by Howard Black, who pitched ball in this section for many years. Black piloted the team to its last two games of the season and closed with a victory over the second-place Goodwill Hose team.

Wagner will most likely do the hurling for the Hibs with Bob Trapp or "Frankie" Pursell doing the receiving. For the Legionnaires, it will be "Charlie" Martindell on the mound with Dan Fleming behind the plate.

The second game of the quarter-finals will be played tomorrow evening, on Memorial Park diamond, with Goodwill Hose playing the Democrat Club. Goodwill Hose won 20 games during the season and lost eight, which was good enough for second place. The Democrats won 17 and lost 10 to tie for third place.

St. Ann's, which won the regular season championship, drew a bye for the playoffs.

Those eligible for the playoffs are:

Langhorne Legion—Dick Lukens, William Keen, James Egli, Wayne Schneider, Dan Fleming, Joe Lukens, Emerson Clark, "Sparrow" Darrach, Paul Roby, Dale Miller, Charles Martindell, Armando Fizzano, Al Knox.

Hibernians—Bob Elker, John Rodgers, Dave Ludwig, Bob Trapp, Joe Dolan, Stanley Stevenson, Bill Coates, Jack Sackville, Dave Morrill, Earl Wagner, Frank Pursell, Dick Campion, Frank Elker.

Democrat Club—Howard Keys, Dominick Oriola, Charles Kohler, Sidney Pursell, John Centonze, Joe Sagolla, Paul Leighton, William Cochran, Harry Ferrell, Dave Weakley, Michael Mandio, Ferdie Reetz, Bob Ghantt.

Goodwill Hose—Gordon Fahey, Art Grimes, Joe McDewitt, Charles Klein, Joe Cahill, John Walker, Wally DeWitt, Jack Hansen, Joe Elmer, Robert Bauroth, Hugh Deans, Bill MacSherry, Wally Oppan, Herman Pluma, Jesse Vanzant.

St. Ann's—Anthony Palumbo, Lou Sassi, Salvatore Pappaterra, Bert Barbetta, Joe Cialella, Joe Sallustio, Paul Cervellero, Kenny Clark, Barney Ludwig, Michael DeRisi, Wilbur VanLenten, Fred Barbetta, Michael Deitch, Gene Barbetta and Tony Caulti.

HIBBS' ARM AND BAT WIN FOR TERRACE OVER CROYDON IX

The arm and bat of "Billy" Hibbs gave the Bristol Terrace team its second straight win in the final playoffs of the Bristol Youth League. Terrace whitewashed the Croydon team, 5-0, last evening on the former's field.

Hibbs' fast ball in addition to handing them seven ciphers only permitted the Croydonites two hits. The first of these hits, both singles, came from the bat of "Bill" Moll in the fourth while "Jim" Marshall made the other in the seventh. Hibbs did not allow a player to get beyond second base and set down five on strikes.

Now for Hibbs' offensive work. The tanned Emille youth stepped up to the plate three times. The first two appearances resulted in singles. Not contented with this, the Terrace hurler walloped a long triple in the sixth. He drove in two runs and scored two others.

Aiding Hibbs in hitting was Frank Rich who connected for two singles and Paige Stewart who also had a pair of hits. The other Terrace safety went to Hibbs' battery mate, Frank Barbetta.

"Jimmy" Morrell twirled the distance for Croydon and gave up eight hits. He struck out six.

Terrace scored its first duo of markers in the second on hits by Rich, Hibbs, and Stewart, and a walk to J. Muth. Another run came in the fourth on hits by Rich, and Hibbs and an infield out. The last two markers were scored on a hit by Barbetta, a fielder's choice, a triple by Hibbs, and an infield out.

Penn A. C. Adds Another Victory

Penn A. C. added another win to its column last evening on Memorial Park field as it blanked the West Bristol A. C. behind the one-hit pitching of Paul Leighton. Final score was 11-0.

Besides allowing the lone bingle, Leighton had nine strikeouts to his credit. Offensively, "Cline" Pursell led the nine hit attack of the Pennacs with a trio of hits, all singles.

Kernit Marsh hurled four innings for the losers being relieved by Glassmire.

It is an interesting study, said Mr. Oliver, to observe which kind of mushrooms prefer which trees under which to grow. Birches, larches, spruces, pines and oaks are the favorites. Mushrooms, it was said, serve as a useful purpose in breaking down decaying vegetable matter.

The second speaker was Elwood B. Moore, Pennington, N. J., who is connected with the New Jersey Conservation and Forestry Department.

Mr. Moore, who gave an illustrated lecture, described the forests of that state. His pictures included white cedars, growing trees and trees which had lain in the swamps for centuries. The cedars, it was said, are valuable because the wood is used for making boats, shingles and other articles.

The fertility of the soil, it was explained, may be judged by the growth a tree makes in a given time.

ODD FELLOWS HOME
MIDDLETOWN, PA.

The Odd Fellows Home of Pennsylvania, one of the eight situated in the Keystone state, represents a million dollar investment in fraternal benevolence. Its imposing main building, crowning a hill close to the Philadelphia and Harrisburg Highway, is a gigantic structure containing 258 rooms besides kitchen, dining room, library, sun parlors, chapel, infirmary and a number of special rooms.

When the cornerstone of the present building was laid in 1924, the Haven could already look back on a half-century of distinguished service in behalf of aged and indigent brothers. Its first site, Vine and 65th streets in Philadelphia, was acquired in 1876, and welcomed its first guest the following January.

From its vantage point—overlooking the Susquehanna River—the Home reflects the labors and high resolve of those responsible for the 128 residents now dwelling there. From its own fields comes the meat and produce for the dining room tables. And from the generosity of hundreds of Pennsylvania Odd Fellows who reside in this vicinity and Rebekahs comes the funds to make this Middletown Home a true Haven for the aged and infirm.

On Saturday, August 21, the Middletown Home, in observance of its Second Home Day, will welcome as its visitors the Odd Fellows from the central and the eastern portions of Pennsylvania. An elaborate afternoon program has been planned for this occasion. Home inspection by the visitors will be followed by a concert rendered by the Bainbridge, Pa., Odd Fellows Band and field day competitive drills under the auspices of the Patriarchs Militant. State Senator Frank W. Ruth will give an address. Lunch will be available for the visitors.

HONESTY, IN CAPS

DENVER, Colo.—(INS)—Here is honesty in capitals. A woman bought a season book of tickets for summer performances at Denver's famed outdoor Red Rocks theater, paying $1.20 a ticket. After the first performance a flat price of $1.80 was set for the remaining concerts. The woman returned her book of tickets and paid the difference.

Neshaminy Farms Is Honored By Association

For distinguished success as a breeding establishment of Ayshire dairy cattle, Neshaminy Farms, Newtown, has been presented the 'Constructive Breeder Award' by the Ayshire Breeders' Association.

In order to qualify for this honor, which is considered the most coveted prize in dairy cattle circles, it is necessary for the herd to excel in production and type, and in addition a high percentage of the herd must have been bred and developed by the owner. The Neshaminy Farm cattle were given a rigid physical inspection by official judge Maurice H. Benson, Lebanon, N. H., who scored the herd 875, placing it among the top 10% of the breed on type characteristics. One member of the herd was designated as "Excellent," which is the highest rating given any Ayshire; while no less than eleven others were classified as "Very Good," which is the second highest score.

On a strictly twice a day milking schedule, the entire milking herd of 13 head averaged 11,395 pounds of

TIME ON HER HANDS

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Mrs. Edgar W. Anderson, of St. Louis, found an expensive watch she had lost five years ago. Mrs. Anderson acted as treasurer at a church rummage sale. She brought along an old purse to carry home the proceeds from the sale. In feeling around inside for loose change she came across a lump. It was the watch hidden inside the lining.
